

Rajarajan Athithan

specialist in power system protection with over 18 years of experience in the field of testing and commissioning. In 2006, he started his career as a fresh graduate trainee engineer. Later, worked as a protection engineer and travelled across India. Commissioned protection systems of numerous power plant and process plant throughout India. He commissioned the power system protection of the first 765kV power grid of India at Seoni, Madhya Pradesh. Later in his career, he tested and commissioned advanced IEDs powered by Goosong Technology across the globe.

Commissioned state utility substation of Malaysia and worked in many oil & gas and processing plants at Malaysia. Commissioned power grids and substations in Oman. Hands on experience in trouble shooting and commissioning of protection system in oil and gas industries at African countries.

He actively leads the power system protection training programme and has trained 750+ engineers in the field of power system protection are one of the major key milestones in his career. With over 18 years of expertise in power system testing & commissioning, he is leading the business in India.